Biography (short version)

Pascale Van Os is an award-winning Belgian conductor, acclaimed for her expressive leadership and collaborations with leading European orchestras. In 2023, she won the 1st Prize, Orchestra Prize and Audience Prize at the International Conducting Competition Opéra de Baugé, after previously receiving distinctions at the “Vienna New Year’s Concert” International Music Competition and the New York Classical Music Competition. She was also awarded the Ernest van der Eycken Award (2021) and won the Klara conducting competition in 2011, where she conducted the Belgian Chamber Philharmonic in a live broadcast.

She served as Assistant Conductor to Gergely Madaras at the Orchestre Philharmonique Royal de Liège and has conducted, among others, the Antwerp Symphony Orchestra, Orchestre de Picardie, KLK Symphony Orchestra, Lviv Philharmonic and Elblag Chamber Orchestra. She currently holds principal conducting positions with the Flemish Chamber Philharmonic, Virago Symphonic Orchestra, Stringendo and Symphonic Orchestra Artemis.

Pascale holds master’s degrees in orchestral and choral conducting from the Royal Conservatory of Antwerp, where she also studied piano and violin. She further refined her craft in masterclasses with conductors such as Kristiina Poska and Mark Shanahan. Alongside her performing career, she teaches orchestral and choral conducting at the Academie Ekeren.
